Former Cincinnati Bengals player Dhani Jones will appear at Miller Gallery at an opening reception Friday for his FotoFocus show, the conceptual "Homonyms Holograph."

Jones – now photographer-TV host-philanthropist – addresses some of the complexities of the English language using photograph homonyms with ideas of the same and same-sounding words.

The event is free, from 7-9 p.m. Miller Gallery is at 2715 Erie Ave., Hyde Park.

Next Friday, the gallery welcomes back Los Angeles-based celebrity photographer Tyler Shields with his new series, Provocateur. Some of his images can be seen now in the Jim Thompson Room at Obscura, 645 Walnut St., Downtown. His latest work involved blowing up a Rolls Royce.

Shields' opening party and artist reception is 7-10 p.m. Oct. 24 at Miller Gallery.
