

Gravity of Light at Holy Cross Church. It's billed as an immersive installation, using an open arc light for illumination, in which monumental-scale photos play a role.

Two other museum shows also are eagerly awaited. Taft Museum of Art's survey of Edward Steichen's glamour photography of the Roaring 1920s and '30s, Star Power, will be up Oct. 12-Jan. 27. And Contemporary Art Center's (CAC) long-planned Image Machine: Andy Warhol and Photography, Sept. 22-Jan. 20, looks at how the Pop artist used photographs as source material as well as documentation of his demimonde life.

And in an artistic cross-pollination, Grammy-winning Jazz musician Bill Frisell and 858 Quartet will perform Musical Portraits from Heber Springs: Bill Frisell's Disfarmer Project, at 8 p.m. on Oct. 8 at the Emery Theatre. (The work is inspired by the photographs of the late Mike Disfarmer, who took portraits of rural Arkansas neighbors.)

Beyond those, there is so much going on — and so much that sounds fascinating — that no single newspaper article can do it all justice. Fortunately, a 60-page guide will appear as an insert in The New York Times on Sept. 23 and in CityBeat on Sept. 26. And the already active site www.fotofocuscincinnati.org will serve as an ongoing center for information. Also, expect much more CityBeat coverage in print and on the website as FOTOFOCUS gets underway.

Laurel Nakadate's "Polaroids from Stay the Same Never Change" — examining women and the male gaze — will be at Art Academy of Cincinnati Oct. 4-31. She will give the FOTOFOCUS lecture at the CAM Oct. 24.

Santeri Tuori, a contemporary Finnish photographer, documented the same forested spot on a remote island, with still camera and video, for five years. The result, The Forest, is at University of Cincinnati's Phillip M. Meyers Jr. Memorial Gallery through October.

Cincinnati's Anthony Luensman received an NEA grant to mount Taint, featuring a series of animated portraits projected onto surfaces of Weston Gallery, Sept. 28-Dec. 29.

Michael Lowe, a noted dealer of contemporary art, presents work from his collection of 1960s-'70s-era Conceptual photography, Using Photography, at his downtown gallery from Oct. 19-27. Artists include Vito Acconci, Marina Abramovic and Christian Boltanski.

At the YWCA Women's Gallery Oct. 5-Jan. 10, Landscape of the Mind: Metaphor, Archetype and Symbol: 1971-2012 presents Jungian-influenced examinations of urban life by Judi Parks, Jane Alden Stevens' studies of apple-growing in Japan and images of rural Ohio that Nancy Rexroth originally took in the 1970s for her celebrated Iowa project.

FOTOFOCUS long has been a goal of its founder (and former CityBeat owner) Thomas Schiff, himself a photographer and longtime arts patron. He put up the seed money to get it started in 2010. "It's been very heartwarming to see all the organizations in Cincinnati come together and embrace FOTOFOCUS," Schiff said. "Photography has always been a prominent force in the art world. People are starting to recognize that more and more."

To this point, the non-profit corporation has spent about $450,000. Participating institutions curate and budget their own shows, while FOTOFOCUS provides support.

While many of the offerings are free, FOTOFOCUS has three levels of Passports that will allow priority access to numerous special events. They are priced at $25, $75 and $250, with information available online.

Meanwhile, even as this event captures the city's attention during October, FOTOFOCUS as an organization has plans for 2014. "In this region, we feel that we will present a biennial festival that people can look forward to and that photographers, curators and artists can anticipate and plan for every two years," says Mary Ellen Goeke, FOTOFOCUS' director. "It will have a wide range of venues here in Cincinnati and in the region."

The aim is for FOTOFOCUS to become a tradition.

For more information on FOTOFOCUS, go here.

COMMENTS

WRITE A COMMENT

9

11

Share

Like

SHARE

PRINT

COMMENT

FONT SIZE

RATE

★★★★★

Related content

John Morris Russe...

Solway Tries Some...

Multicultural Exc...

Brighton Beach Me...

One Singular Cita...

The Odd Couple (R...

Related to:

Cincinnati arts

FotoFocus

ShawnAbnoxious @CityBeatCincy DUKE ENERGY dragging feet because... Well, they are a regulated monopoly, thats what big businesses do "Its all YOUR fault!" 8 hours ago · reply · retweet · favorite CincySocial "@FOTOFOCUSCincy set to make its mark on Cincinnati's arts scene". Read more @CityBeatCincy citybeat.com/cincinnati/art... 5 hours ago · reply · retweet · favorite

CincySocial RT @CityBeatCincy: Check out this week's issue for our fall arts preview: FotoFocus, theater, dance, music, visual arts, lit and more ht ... 5 hours ago · reply · retweet · favorite

LavomaticOTR Thanks @CityBeatCincy for the review! citybeat.com/cincinnati/art... 5 hours ago · reply · retweet · favorite

Join the conversation

welcome to PERKOPOLIS

Home of 50% savings on Cincinnati restaurants, shops and services

Enzo's OTR

$10 Voucher for $5.00

Whack Burger

$10 Voucher for $5.00

Sonny's Three Meat Burger

$10 Voucher for $5.00

Burnell's

$10 Voucher for $5.00

FIND THIS GUY

POST TO CITYBEAT'S FACEBOOK, AND WIN!

IT'S EASY:

1. TAKE A PIC

2. POST TO CITYBEAT'S FACEBOOK

3. THE FIRST 20 PEOPLE TO POST TO CITYBEAT WIN A $25 GIFT CARD TO WHERE YOU FOUND HIM.

Drink Newcastle Responsibly Imported by HeinekenUSA, White Plains, NY

Find us on Facebook

Cincinnati CityBeat

Cincinnati CityBeat

Perkopolis Deal of the Day:
50% off wine tasting
admission at Marty's Hops and Vines
<http://bit.ly/w9IIIL>

One Admission to One Wine Tasting ($10 Value) to Marty's Hops & Vines for $5.00 | Restaurants | Perk...
bit.ly

Stepping into Marty's Hops & Vines feels like walking into an old friend's home. With comfortable seating and a warm atmosphere, a seemingly endless selection of fantastic wines and great beer, there's

12,057 people like Cincinnati CityBeat.

Kevin

Micah

Richard

Cate

Dave

David

Melanie E.

Daap

Samantha

Drew

 Facebook social plugin

MP MF.12
MIDPOINT MUSIC FESTIVAL
CINCINNATI / SEPT. 27-29

GRIZZLY BEAR
DIRTY PROJECTORS
SLEIGH BELLS
ANDREW BIRD
DINOSAUR JR
BEST COAST
THE WALKMEN
RALPH STANLEY & HIS CLINCH
MOUNTAIN BOYS
THE ANTLERS
CLOUD NOthings
WILLIS EARL BEAL
HERE WE GO MAGIC HOSPITALITY
IMPERIAL TEEN TENNIS
FRANKIE ROSE
RICH AUCION
STEPCAD
F.STOKES
JULIA HOLTER
J.C. BROOKS AND THE UPTOWN SOUND
LOWER DENS
THE GROWLERS
LAETITIA SADIER
LORD HURON & MORE!

BUY YOUR TICKETS NOW!
CLICK HERE FOR DETAILS

Bioré vitaminwater
STELLA
ARTOIS CityBeat topic

jackern I look forward to returning tv shows like other people look forward to real things that happen in life #AHSfx #walkingdead about 1 minute ago · reply · retweet · favorite

CityBeatCincy Perkopolis Deal of the Day: 50% off wine tasting admission at Marty's Hops and Vines bit.ly/w9lllL #fb
2 hours ago · reply · retweet · favorite

CityBeatMusic Lineup for Know Theater & the Biore Strip's performers at Cincy's @MidPointMusic Fest (Sept. 27-29) #MPMF goo.gl/3zyR3
3 hours ago · reply · retweet · favorite

CityBeatCincy What "Pop music" has become ... and why it makes for a delicious snack citybeat.com/cincinnati/blo...
6 hours ago · reply · retweet · favorite

Join the conversation

CAMPAIGN JOBS

$11.67/Hr - $466/Wk

APPLY ONLINE NOW!
WORKING AMERICA

SECTIONS	BLOGS	PLACES	JUST VISITING	ABOUT US	ADVERTISE WITH US
NEWS OPINION MUSIC ARTS MUSIC MOVIES	POLITICS/ISSUES MUSIC MOVIES ARTS THE MORNING AFTER SPORTS!	RESTAURANTS CLUBS AND BARS MUSIC VENUES GALLERIES MUSEUMS PARKS LIBRARIES	VISITOR'S GUIDE BEST OF CINCINNATI DINING GUIDE BAR GUIDE	CONTACT US READ THE DIGITAL EDITION BE AN INTERN	CITYBEAT MEDIA KIT NATIONAL ADVERTISING CONTACT US

Powered by WeHaa