As a monthlong photography exhibition gets underway across Greater Cincinnati, a new documentary explores the influences that led a local photographer to her career.

FotoFocus Biennial 2018 is a monthlong international exhibition that encompasses 90 projects featuring more than 400 artists, curators and educators – the largest of its kind in North America. In conjunction with the event, Cincinnati photographer Ann Segal has produced a documentary about her experiences in “Through the Lens of Time.” The film is the third such work Segal has produced for FotoFocus since 2012 that explores the careers of well-known Cincinnati image makers.

A photographer for more than 40 years, Segal's work is informed by her life and a deep connection to the natural world. Click here to see examples of her work.

“Through the Lens of Time” will be shown at the Mini Microcinema at 1329 Main St. in Over-the-Rhine at 3 p.m. Oct. 6-7, 8 p.m. Oct. 14 and 4:30 p.m. Oct. 20.

There will be a reception with Ann Segal prior to the Oct. 14 screening at 7 p.m. and before the Oct. 20 screening at 3:30 p.m. Admission is free with a suggested $5 donation. Click here to see a short video of the documentary.
